The Solution: Instant Communications

Pangean Technologies solutions leverage a company's existing IP network to provide instant voice communications within the enterprise. With Pangean converged communications client, a company benefits from a significant reduction in their communications cost while increasing productivity.

The solution brings together the power of presence, instant message, and voice communications that once was provided through multiple applications. Because the solution resides on the company's network, there is no monthly cost.

insta-REACT!

insta-REACT! is a SIP based converged solution for instant voice communications. It provides an all-in-one communication solution for the enterprise market. The Solution provides secure, standard-based multimedia communications including:

-  Presence
-  Instant Message
-  Instant Voice Conference

All these features are delivered on a single software user interface on the user's PC using the corporate network.

insta-RELAY!

insta-RELAY! allows an intercom-like communications solution for company management to instantly address the entire company. Based on IP technology, the solution utilizes a company's existing corporate LAN and WAN to broadcast voice to every desktop, making it a cost-effective solution. The voice broadcast is delivered to anyone with a multimedia PC on the corporate data network that is given access to listen.

Y-Talk

Y-Talk is a SIP-based VoIP software application that transforms any PDA device running Microsoft Windows Mobile™ 5.0 or Microsoft Windows Mobile™ 2003 into a "Walkie-Talkie" like device using Push to Talk.

Enterprises with the need for a ubiquitous solution that increases employee mobility can use Y-Talk for instant communications "on the go".

Pangean Background

Pangean Technologies is a privately held VoIP software development company that was founded by a team of VoIP software technology professionals based on the vision that real-time communications including voice and video over IP, presence and instant messaging will rapidly be adopted by companies seeking Instant Voice Communications.

Focus Markets

Pangean Technologies is initially focused on delivering cost effective VoIP communication solutions to the enterprise market. The solution is ideal for use in broader enterprise markets and specific verticals including:

- Financial
- Emergency Services
- Government
- Healthcare
- Legal

The VoIP enterprise deployment market is evolving rapidly and Pangean is leading the way for a new wave of VoIP communications.
